A Terrible Shipwreck in the English Channel.

Between 300 and 400 Lives Lost.

LONDON, March 25.—The Admiral commanding at Portsmouth telegraphs the following particulars of the loss of the training ship Eurydice, received from the coast guard at Ventnor. The Eurydice capsized off Dunnoose Head, Isle of Wight at half-past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in a sudden squall. One boy and a seaman were saved. Other advices indicate that between 300 and 400 lives were lost. The Admiral, on receiving the news of the disaster, immediately dispatched a steamer to the scene of the wreck. The Eurydice was a training ship for ordinary seamen, under the command of Captain Marcus A. S. Hare. She was of 921 tons, and carried four guns.

HOW THE WRECK OCCURRED.
A survivor gives the number on board as 300. Five were picked up by a passing schooner after being in the water over an hour, but all have died except two. It is not probable that any others were saved, as a strong ebb tide was running. The Eurydice was under full sail when she was overtaken by a snow storm, accompanied by heavy squalls. The sun shone again brilliantly shortly afterwards, but nothing was then visible except a few boxes floating down the channel. The survivors say they saw the ship suck down many as she sank.

A STORY OF A SURVIVOR.
The following is Cudifford's statement: "The ship capsized in a squall and snow storm about 4 in the afternoon, when five miles from Dunnoose. There were about 300 persons on board, all of whom, except myself and Fletcher, were I believe lost. I was one of the last on the ship. Captain Hare was near me when she went down, after capsizing. She carried with her a large number of men clinging to her, and more were drawn into the vortex. A man near me said that a vessel was close by when the squall came on, and therefore we would be sure to be picked up. I was more than an hour in the water, being a first-rate swimmer, and very many of my comrades cried to me for help. I tried to assist two or three, but at last there were four clinging to me, and I was obliged to kick them off. We passed the Lizard, the county of Cornwall and most of the southern part of Great Britain yesterday and expected to anchor at Spithead about 5 in the afternoon."

WHERE THE ACCIDENT OCCURRED.
The Admiral commanding at Portsmouth has sent steamers to search in the vicinity of the accident, but no further report has been received. It is believed the Eurydice had about 320 officers and seamen, of whom 270 were young men in training, besides about twenty officers and men taken on board at Bermuda as invalids. Dunnoose, off which the ship was lost, is a lofty headland and well known to visitors to the Isle of Wight. It is situated a short distance south of Shanklin. The Eurydice was commissioned at Portsmouth in February, 1877, and went on a practice cruise to the West Indies, whence she had been for some time expected at Portsmouth.

A HOPE THAT MORE ARE SAVED.
Lloyds place the number on board at 315, two only of whom are known to be saved, though a telegram from Ventnor states that as a bark was seen bearing toward Dunnoose just before the squall, there is some hope that she may have rescued others. In consequence of a strong ebb tide and north wind at the time, the bodies are not expected to come ashore. All hands were mustering on deck for prayers at the time of the disaster. But for a passing schooner nothing would have been known of the disaster, as everything on the sea was hidden from those on the shore by the binding snow storm, and it would have been thought the ship had gone on to Spithead. At 3:30 the Esplanade at Ventnor was crowded with visitors admiring the Eurydice, which was carrying every available stitch of canvas. She sailed so close to the shore that from the pierhead the cordage of the rigging was visible. Suddenly the sky became overcast and snow and sleet descended quickly, driving the promenaders to cover and hiding the vessel from view. When the storm lifted only the schooner Emma, lowering her boats, could be seen.

WHAT ANOTHER SURVIVOR SAYS.
Fletcher states that he was below when, hearing a noise on deck, he rushed up and found the vessel on her side, in a sinking condition. He had been in the water scarcely a minute when the vessel lurched forward and sank, drawing him down into a distance that he gave himself up for lost, but a life-buoy drew him to the surface. The vessel lies with her masts visible, two miles off Looe, where a Chinese Point, where a ravine runs down to the sea, and through which the wind blows with a force against which only, close-roofed vessels can stand.

Boats went out that night to search for bodies, but none were found. Several gunboats are to-day cruising in the neighborhood. An effort will be made to raise the vessel. A telegram from Cowes says: There is no doubt the Eurydice was carrying too much sail. She had her lower and upper studding sails set. A Portsmouth telegram says: It is feared that, with the men embarked at Bermuda and probably from Admiral Key's squadron, the Eurydice had nearly 400 persons on board.

Sharon-Kearney-Apponyi.

Simple Simon, a San Francisco correspondent to the Virginia Chronicle, throws his crucial light upon Senator Sharon's finances, defies Kearney and denounces Apponyi as a probable fraud. It may never have occurred to this versatile disher-up of San Francisco news, that those to whom he alludes may withstand his criticisms and yet live successful lives. We know that they will feel badly, but bear him.

AN OBJECT OF COMPASSION.

Poor Sharon! I am almost inclined to pity him! Loaded down to the guards with unrealistic property—his hotel mortgaged up to the very roof, his Ophir in the Nevada Bank vaults, his Justice almost valueless, his other stocks choked up with assessments, his V. and T. Railroad in the hands of D. O. Mills, his Union Mills idle, himself the prey of harpies, the victim of thieving lobbyists and legislators, and the target for all manner of abuse—I wonder that he doesn't succumb to it all, and walk over to Nevada Block some morning and say: "Here—I am tired of strife; take me into camp and put me on the pay-roll. Take all I have—take my hotel, my mills, everything—give me a full release from debt, and let me go to Washington and act as your bullion agent both in name and in fact."

NOW OF SAN FRANCISCO'S DICTATOR.

The fact is our whole city government is afraid of Kearney. His blood-curdling cry of "Hemp!" seems to sink into the souls of them all, from Mayor to Poundmaster, and they shiver in their boots at every mention of the name of Kearney. His sublime impudence—his overshadowing assurance—his adamant cheek—make them stand aghast. At that meeting the other day some of our most prominent citizens were present, but their tongues seemed paralyzed when Kearney got up.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT APPONYI.

Speaking of Kearney I see you have one Apponyi, an unnaturalized Greek, over in Virginia, trying to stir up the laboring men there into something like Kearneyism. Kearney told me day before yesterday that his party had nothing to do with Apponyi, and that he had gone to Nevada entirely on his own hook. He didn't say so, but he gave me to distinctly understand that the real Simon pure Kearney-Wellock-Knight party didn't go much on Apponyi, and that he was acting in Nevada entirely without their authority. I guess Apponyi is a fraud.

We care little whether Apponyi is a fraud or not. No one gave Kearney any authority. He simply assumed it, and the people of California stand by him. To-day they bear him on their shoulders, to-morrow schisms may divide his party, and he may be deposed. Apponyi started a working-man's party in Virginia City and Reno, and certainly betrays very kindred talents to Kearney; and has as much right to act here or elsewhere as the "Dictator of San Francisco." If we Americans let Greeks or Hungarians, or other foreigners lead us, they certainly are not to blame. But nationality need not govern. Are these men in and of themselves proper leaders? The truth is no; but they find cause for action; they step to the front and organize, in numbers and crude strength, a strong party. This is fact, potential energy for those who oppose the present move. They court opposition and live healthily upon it. Shall we be foolish enough to furnish it? San Francisco did so, and San Francisco is to-day in the hands of the workingmen. Persecute them, and their crudities take orderly shape; their exaggerated wrongs become real, and the pent-up torrent will turn loose on the Pacific Coast ensuring results very probably in many particulars baneful to the country, and unexpected and unsought by the Working-men themselves. Their move is not child's play nor is it a weak creation of the day. A number of leading men in San Francisco, as we take it, have gone partly into the new organization to guide its members from doing violence to society and their own cause. Good will result from this party if it is properly managed. The intentions of most of these men are good. Let us not fan their passions into a flame, and ourselves lead them to indiscreet acts. If they are inherently weak they will fall by themselves; and if weak we will only support them by our opposition. The fire burns, the fuel is at hand, and we are working at the bellows! Their action is in the nature of an experiment. If they do the people, the country and themselves good, we shall hail their success. If they fail, it shall not be from want of effort nor because of an absolute want of grounds for action.

Eastern War Notes.

The Eastern situation remains little changed. There is much anxiety felt all over Europe, in the result of affairs within the next 30 days. English papers are demanding war.

A correspondent at St. Petersburg learns from a good source that no formal representation will probably be made for the present about the presence of the British fleet in the sea of Marmora, but the Russian troops will not embark now as was intended. Influential and moderate politicians remark that the fear of England's policy will force Russia to occupy Constantinople, and drive the Sultan from Europe. The only hope of peace is in the speedy assembling of the Congress. That hope, however, through-out Russia, is fast fading. The bellicose excitement is intense, even in St. Petersburg.

The London Times, in a leading article, says: "Lord Derby continues to insist that the whole of the treaty shall be submitted to the Plenipotentiaries, but to guard against laying too much stress upon this formal point, he asked whether the communication of the document to the several Powers is equivalent to a submission of it to Congress? Russia is understood to have replied that it is not. Thus she declines one condition on which our Government will send a Plenipotentiary to Berlin.

The Journal de St. Petersburg of the 25th inst. says: "England must yield her wishes to Europe, and cease obstructing the definite conclusion of peace, or the Congress must meet without England, or Russia must act alone."

The St. Petersburg Golos of same date declares that the treaty of peace falls short of the aspirations of the Russian people.

The Berlin North German Gazette says the treaty does not affect German interests.

An Athens date of the 25th says: It is reported that the women and children massacred by the Turks in the sacking of the Thessalian villages of Glympeo, Espana, Cairia and Litonori number many thousands. Admiral Hornby at the request of the British representative at Athens, has dispatched a vessel to ascertain the truth of these reports.

It would seem from the above dispatches that such a state of affairs could not long exist without active and perhaps general war.

No REWARD.—It appears that a notion prevails that a reward of $30,000 is offered by the State of Nevada for the discovery of a good workable mine of coal of a quality equal to the Rocky Mountain coal. For the information of some who have inquired in regard to this matter we may state that we have put the question to Professor W. Frank Stewart, and he says that no reward has ever been offered by this State for the discovery of a coal mine. The Professor pronounces some of the specimens sent to this office for examination, and supposed to be the croppings of coal, igneous matter—basalt and obsidian. Some of these specimens closely resemble anthracite coal in color and luster, while others, of a gray color, are crystallized and may be said to be miniature columns of basalt.—Enterprise.

Why there should be no coal found in Nevada is a mystery to us. We had supposed from very reliable sources that in fact there is much coal in this State. Coal is found in the more recently formed Coast Range Mountains of California, why not in these older, huge earth and rock pilings of Nature, the Sierras.

The new thing from England most eagerly looked for is Mathew Arnold's recent lecture on "Equality." It will probably be in the march issue of the "Footlight Review," or of "Nineteenth Century." If one may judge of this lecture from his profound work "Literature and Dogma," we Americans hail the publication of his lecture on "Equality."

A Sad Romance.

The Cause of Judge Leonard's Visit to Havana.

[New York Times.]

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The announcement in the House to-day of the death of Representative Leonard of Louisiana, at Havana, recalls the reports published touching the purpose of his visit to Cuba. After his departure from New York it was said that Judge Leonard was sent to Cuba by the President to inquire into the alleged kidnapping of colored citizens of the United States, and their conveyance to Cuba, where they were sold into slavery. It was further alleged that Judge Leonard was commissioned to visit New Orleans for the purpose of representing to Governor Nicholls the views of the President with reference to the prosecution of members of the Louisiana Returning Board. These stories were without the slightest foundation in fact, and were denied in these dispatches immediately after their publication. The visit of Judge Leonard to Havana was purely personal and private, and was of a peculiarly interesting, delicate and romantic character. Some time ago, at the city of New Orleans, he met a young lady, a native of Cuba, who was visiting this country with her parents, and between whom and Judge Leonard a warm attachment sprang up, which ripened into love. A marriage engagement was the result, but the parents of the young lady, in consequence of her youth, opposed the match, and Judge Leonard was not permitted to see the object of his affections except in the presence of her parents. When the time arrived for

of the Cuban and his family from New Orleans, the young lady manifested some reluctance to return home but an arrangement was finally made by which she and Judge Leonard were to be permitted to hold free and unrestricted correspondence through the mails. After her departure Judge Leonard wrote her several letters, to which no answers were received, which naturally annoyed him very much, and gave rise to the suspicion that his letters had been intercepted and the lady prevented from communicating with him. After a long interval he received a brief letter from the lady, which simply stated that she had not heard from him since her return to Cuba, and that she could not hear from him. This brief letter bore evidence of having been hurriedly written, and its broken and soiled condition led Judge Leonard to suspect that it had been carried some distance by a negro to be secretly mailed. After writing other letters and waiting anxiously for replies, he became convinced that the parents of the lady were not acting in good faith, and he determined to visit Cuba. A week or two before his departure he called on the President, and, informing him of his trouble, requested the President to write a personal letter to the Consul-General requesting him to ascertain if possible, the situation and whereabouts of the lady. The President did so, and in due time Judge Leonard received a cable dispatch from Havana that "Maria had been sent to a plantation in the country." This dispatch was not signed by the Consul-General, but bore the name of a party unknown to Judge Leonard. This added to his perplexity, and he determined to

SET OUT AT ONCE FOR CUBA.

He called on Senator Mantilla, the Spanish Minister at Washington, and making known to him his trouble, obtained a letter from that official to Captain-General of Cuba, recommending him to do whatever was proper to aid Judge Leonard in his delicate mission. The sympathies of Mme. Mantilla were also enlisted on behalf of Judge Leonard, and that lady wrote such a letter as a lady would write in such a case, urging the Captain-General to do everything possible to unite the lovers. With these letters Judge Leonard sailed for Havana, where he duly arrived. Nothing has been heard from him directly until to-day, when a friend received a letter written by him from Havana on March 7th, in which he said he had seen the lady in the presence of her parents. No details as to the success of his mission were furnished, but from the general tone of despondency pervading the letter the friend believes he failed to obtain the consent of the parents to his addresses to their daughter. The announcement of his death was a painful surprise. Judge Leonard was 32 years of age, and was born at Chester, Pennsylvania. He graduated at Harvard in 1867, studied civil law in Germany, and received the degree of Doctor of Laws from the University at Heidelberg. He was a widower, and has two children at school in Germany.

How They Do It.—The Gold Hill News says: They were passing a wood-pile near the depot last night—a man and a woman. Suddenly the woman was seen to throw her shawl on the ground, the man quickly put two large sticks of wood in it and carefully wrapped the shawl around them. When the two came out from the shadow of the wood pile the man was carrying what appeared to be a baby. They passed the sharp-eyed watchman, and he never suspected anything. Nothing like strategy.

Sam Davis, of the Virginia Chronicle, distinguished himself at the Macder-Crosbie benefit Saturday night, at Piper's Opera House, by first delivering a lecture on "Mines and Mining" and then engaging in a draw wrestling match. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Jottings.

Mr. L. W. Lee yesterday shipped 25 car loads beef cattle, for Grayson, Harrell & Co. of Oakland. The cattle were from G. H. Bailey. Also 3 cars for Frank Aumer of Dutch Flat, from Surprise valley.

The attention of our lady readers is directed to the local, ad. of Miss C. Seltier, who has a choice stock of articles, of which they are excellent judges, they will, of course, give Miss Seltier a call.

Several Chinamen will open a store on Commercial Row next door to the Western Union telegraph office in a few days. The preliminary shelving, etc., is now being performed by Celestial labor.

Several persons have asked about a party and whether the Odd Fellows would give a grand ball on the 26th prox. Gentlemen be patient, there is yet ample time. We presume that our Reno I. O. O. F. will do something handsome.

Which would you rather do on a dull day or go a fishing? W. R. Chamberlain, Jasper Babcock and Harry Closson, this morning went to Verdi to gather in the migrating trout.

Geo. Ford of the Truckee Republican, was in town yesterday, and Deacon Parkinson of the Carson Tribune, went to Sacramento last night.

Mr. J. E. Jones says that the Jones & Kinkaid mine looks well. He will sink a sump and bail the water from the lower part of the shaft allowing it to collect first in the sump, which is merely the lower part of the shaft, and in this mine will be immediately below the 400 foot level.

Absolute quiet in the Justice Court. The Methodist Sunday School this evening gives a concert. Dialogues, select readings, recitations and singing form the programme. Admission, 25 cents.

Coleman & Co., who run a first-class barber shop on the west side of Virginia street, have a few locals of their own in this issue. Those in need of a bath will find them of interest. No objection to others perusing the adds in question.

The Lyceum this evening meets at the District court-room. By the attendance lately one would suppose the members of the club had forgotten the place of meeting. The question for debate is woman suffrage, but visitors are nevertheless most cordially invited.

Mr. Alexander is out of town and will sojourn elsewhere for a few days, but all favors will, as heretofore, be thankfully received at this office.

District Court next Monday, also County Commissioners, Rentz Female Minstrels, and April fool's day.

We are not entirely ourselves until another thinks entirely as we do. Goethe. Nor is a man entirely comfortable until he has provided himself with a full set of Hayes' underwear, sold only by Cohn & Isaacs.

H. W. Beecher is said to be a Swedonborgian. We wonder what effect a bottle of East India chutney, found at J. C. Hagerman's, would have upon his neoteric views. We allude to his hellish opinions.

A scurrilous looking dog riding astride a shabby horse which was led by a small boy and a shortbailing rope, was the excitement on Virginia street just after dinner.

"If you want a purely unsophisticated family pill," go to Osburn & Shoemakers. They have them 32 in a box and of their qualities we can speak best in the language of another. They are liver-encouraging, kidney-persuading, silent perambulators, as mild as a pet lamb, and fine as a tooth comb. It don't go fooling about, but attends strictly to business, and is as certain as an alarm clock.

We are requested to state that all those who take part in the Methodist Concert to-night, are urged to be on hand promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Our morning cotem thinks we are a little off about the members of the Workingmen's party. Our informant was the President of the party. In Sunday morning's Journal the number was placed at 325. We said 310. Call on the Secretary Mr. Chas. L. Queen, or on the President Mr. Louis Walker. We don't know anything about their real and woe.

CUPOLA FURNACE.—Messrs. Jones, Kinkaid and probably a few others have determined to erect a cupola furnace at this place, and to-day work was commenced on the same. It is a furnace which is in use in a number of places in this State, and does satisfactory work. When this furnace is completed the Schively process will, in all probability, be used in connection with it to reduce the ores found in this county. J. L. McFarlin is now engaged on part of the furnace. Our citizens should all be interested in this matter and assist this enterprise as in their judgment they deem best. We have some good mines in this county and there are methods by which this ore may be profitably worked. These men are putting their shoulder to the wheel. Let no one throw cold water on the experiment. We shall look for ultimate success. There should not be such a thing as failure. If this process wins, Washoe county has taken an advance step which will make her one of the richest counties in the State. Gentlemen, it is ours that you shall succeed.

A FREQUENT OCCURRENCE.—F. A. Thayer, for many years night editor of the New York Times, soon leaves for a Maine college to study for the Congregational ministry.

Thus it is that the pulpit is robbing the press of many of its devoted workers. We yet believe that we can do more good through the Gazette than by going behind the sacred desk. We know that it is a temptation, but patience and a knowledge that when we shall lay low in the lap of dame earth men will call us blessed, and maidens will shower flowers over our grave, resigns us to our present calling. Therefore, gentlemen, send in your wedding notices, with their proper accompaniments, half column ads, complimentary tickets, subscription money invitations to dinner, etc. We can appreciate the good things of life, what newspaper man can not? Office on Sierra street, over Toombs & Co's store. Latch string on the outside.

CHURCH SOCIAL.—The Baptist social to-morrow evening at the Baptist Church will be an affair enjoyable to all and especially to be enjoyed by all who hail from Massachusetts. We have in mind the Boston Brown bread and baked beans. Of course we will pass an evening in a sociable way—wherein we eat and make merry by conversation and song.

The Coming Attack on Hayes.

The New York Herald's special, speaking of Hayes' probable attack on the Administration, says:

Conkling, it is again reported, will make a speech reviewing the first year of Hayes' Administration, and denouncing it with great bitterness. It is the intention of the Anti-Hayes party to force the Southern Democrats to defend the President, in the hope that such defense would embitter Northern Republicans. Democratic Senators are very generally willing to let the handfull of Administration Republicans in the Senate reply to the attacks on Hayes.

We rather like to hear of these attacks. They strengthen a good man who has already a firm and increasing hold upon the American people. But it must appear a little foolish to Conservative Republicans that a number of their leaders in Congress are content, a few to attack the President, the remainder to defend him, while the Democratic Congressman laugh in their sleeves at this folly, or fan to an occasional flame an unnecessary dislike which Conkling et al hold against Hayes.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Secretary Schurz, in an interview upon the recent depredations, says the appropriation for the discovery and prosecution of timber depredators, reduced as it has been to $5,000, by the Senate, will, under present circumstances, not be sufficient to prepare the necessary testimony for the trial of many cases now pending in the different States.

A Intrepid Captain.

The following story, which comes under the category of "highly interesting if true," is told of Commodore Ammen, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation in the Navy Department: During the rebellion, Ammen, then a captain in the navy, was placed in command of a party of men, who had enlisted in San Francisco for the Pacific squadron. They were embarked on a merchant transport, and a few days out the men, among whom were many rough characters, showed a disposition to mutiny, alleging that their food was unfit or insufficient. The mutterings and threats and black looks at length became so alarming that the master of the vessel, fearing for his safety, as well as for the lives of himself and crew, who were outnumbered ten to one, expressed to Captain Ammen his fears and his inclination to make for the nearest port. "Why make for the nearest port?" said Ammen. "I am in command and I wish to go to the squadron." "But," replied the master, "they will kill us all—they will kill you if you go among them." "We will see about that," said the Captain. Arming himself, he went down where the men were gathered, and walked in among them. Voices were immediately hushed, and one burly fellow named Murphy, the leader of the mischief, came toward him, determined evidently to begin the work of destruction at once. Raising his revolver, Ammen shot the man dead, and commanded, in a voice which contained much more than words "Throw him overboard." Recovering from their stupor, the men glared like wild beasts upon the intrepid Captain, and soon a second mutiny gained the courage to make a move toward him. Another shot and again came the order, "Throw him overboard." Yet once more was the awful tragedy repeated, and a third bloody feast was thrown to the sharks. The mutiny was ended. The men huddled in the farthest corners. Pointing out one by one the remaining ringleaders, Ammen ordered their companions to put them in irons, and when this was done he returned to his stateroom.

A SINGULAR CASE OF BLACK-MAIL.—W. S. Matter, of Live Oak, Sutter county, California, swore out a warrant in Justice Hamblin's court Thursday, March 16th, charging James Deacons, a neighbor farmer, with extortion or black mail. The Banner furnishes the following particulars and cause of action: Matter was ploughing in the neighborhood when Deacons stopped him and charged him with having attempted to ravish a little step-daughter of his (Deacons's). Matter denied the charge indignantly when Deacons drew a pistol and told him he had a mind to kill him right there. After some further parley Deacons informed Matter that the only way the thing could be settled and Matter save his life was for him to sign a bill of sale of his horse and wagon in Deacons's favor. To save his life, Matter complied with this demand, and Deacons went off, telling Matter he might keep the horse to finish his ploughing with. At noon, when Matter had taken his team to the barn, Deacons again put in an appearance, and told him he could keep the horse, but if he ever whispered a word of what had transpired he would blow his brains out. After consultation with his brother and some friends, Matter took the train and came to Yuba City, making the charge against Deacons, in the course of which substantially the above facts were brought out. The warrant for the arrest of Deacons was placed in the hands of Under Sheriff Coats, but his man had not been found at last accounts.

The will of Pius IX. makes provision for his monument. According to the usual custom a magnificent tomb was prepared for him during his lifetime, in Santa Maria Maggiore, but 2,000 francs are to cover the whole cost of the new monument; the stone is to have a death's head instead of a coat of arms, and the inscription, most likely written in his own hand as follows: "Here lies Pius IX., Supreme Pontiff; born 13 May, 1793, died 7 February, 1878. Pray for him."

Elko Post: A dozen men were sitting in a saloon when a female voice was heard from an adjacent door step: "Well, good morning, Mrs. Blank. If I had anything on I'd go with you." There was a mad rush for the door, an eager, expectant crowd, with outstretched necks, peering over each other's shoulders in the direction from whence the voice proceeded and then a return to the vacated chairs, while one of the party asked in a tone of bitter disappointment: "What good does it do a woman to lie that way, anyhow?"

Canada owes $19,000,000 or at the rate of forty dollars a head of her population.

$777 is not easily earned in these times, but it can be made in three months by any one of either sex, in any part of the country who is willing to work steadily at the employment we furnish, $66 per week in your own town. You need not be away from home over night. You can give your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. We have agents who are making over $50 per day. All who engage at once can make money fast. At the same time, the time is so short, that it is not likely to be supplied at any other business. It costs nothing to try the business.
